

Satellite radio offers a huge variety of listening choices, including many different musical genres, news and weather. I can actually CHOOSE what I listen to and not have to suffer the droning of the radio DJ's for 40 minutes out of every hour, not to mention the endless commercial advertisements. If I am willing to pay the monthly subscription fee to get what I want, why would there be any threat of having my choices taken away from me? America is the land of free enterprise, and competition is always going to be a part of any enterprise. If government gets involved, and forces us to lose our freedom of choice in this simple arena, what will be next? If the National Assoc. of Broadcasters is so worried about their listening audience, then they need to use their financial resources to compete with Satellite Radio, not on legal fees to shut it down. What will they do next...ban cassette and CD players in automobiles? Please don't waste the public's time and money on such frivolity.
